

MAKE A LARARIUM

A 'lararium' was a household shrine where the Romans could pray and make offerings to their gods in their own home. The gods usually included one or more 'lares' who were the gods of the home, but you could add small bronze or clay statuettes of all your favourite gods. The lararium could be made of wood or stone and usually resembled a miniature classical Roman temple. Follow the instructions to make one of your own.

✂

✂

✂

✂

✂

✂